

Grayling Glover Wins State Championship

DUPLESSIS, CHARLEVOIX BOXER, TAKES STATE LIGHTWEIGHT CROWN

Manager Willard Harwood and his team of boxers returned from the Grand Rapids finals proclaiming themselves as victors again. Five boys went down of the six winners of the Bay City tournament. Harold Chase of West Branch could not enter because of illness. Robert Massey, Camp Houghton Lake, was to have been reinstated but it was found impossible to do so.

This is the first time in the three years that Grayling has held the Golden Gloves tournaments that a representative of the Grayling team has won a State championship. The honor goes to Oliver Duplessis of Charlevoix who won the State championship lightweight title in the novice class. Duplessis fought 16 bouts, winning 12 by knockouts. He is a fine young fellow with plenty of power behind each punch.

His interest in the sport and willingness to learn all there is to know about it, helped him go through the three tournaments in such fine shape. Still lots of credit goes to trainer Joe Holmes who has spent much time with Duplessis, keeping him always in good form. Holmes, once a professional prize fighter, went with him to Bay City and also to Grand Rapids, acting as his second. Duplessis was presented a Golden Glove emblem studded with a diamond.

Grayling is also proud to have four runner-ups in the tournament. One State champion and four runner-ups is very good considering that other places have many more fellows entered in their tournaments. The runner-ups are Nathaniel Crosby, lightweight; Willard Tipton, lightweight; Robert Boyd, featherweight; and Lucien Taliaferro, middleweight, all of Camp Houghton Lake.

Crosby lost the championship bout by a close decision in the open lightweight class, but will represent northern Michigan in Chicago.

Our hats are off to Robert Boyd, who, despite his handicap of a game leg, having at one time had infantile paralysis, won the honor as runner-up. He lost by a knockout in his final bout. Boyd has never let his affliction keep him from doing what he wanted to and it has been his ambition to be a boxer and it looks as tho nothing will stop him.

Taliaferro fought 12 bouts, winning 9 by knockouts. It was thought by many that he would go through this tournament as he has the others, but as in the Louis-Godoy fight, Taliaferro met a "Godoy." His opponent fought the Godoy style, and as Taliaferro had not met up with that type of boxing before, it baffled him. He lost by a knockout.

Tipton lost by a questionable decision, in the light heavyweight class, going through the tournament with byes, as they were unable to find opponents in the open class until the final bout.

Crosby and Tipton will represent Michigan at the Chicago

No New Taxes Needed Said Kiwanis Speaker

SENATOR McCALLUM SAYS QUIT TAMPERING WITH BUSINESS

State Senator George F. McCallum, of Ann Arbor, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis club Wednesday. He was one of the members of the tax-survey commission appointed by Gov. Murphy to study the tax situation in Michigan.

Quite a group of visiting Kiwanians from Gaylord were present—Representative John Guggisberg, Kiwanis President Floyd Weeks, John Hamilton, Judge Calkins, and Melvin Freeland. Senator McCallum, in his talk said he had "always believed that we would find new uses for our cut-over timber lands. Today some of this so-called worthless lands are proving more valuable than they ever were as timberlands. He said there was no need for more taxes in Michigan. Adequate operation of the present tax collecting machinery will provide all that Michigan needs for administration and institutional uses.

Further, the federal and state governments must stop tampering with and penalizing industry. Instead we must help business and that alone will restore prosperity to this country. Labor differences can and should be adjusted.

Tax evasion is in direct proportion to tax collecting machinery. Many evils and much neglect are being corrected which will mean more funds with which to run the state and will correct many common evasions.

The speaker advised—

1. Industry must be encouraged to re-create payrolls, the life-blood of prosperity.
2. A better collection of taxes now due.
3. A Department of Revenue to make this possible.
4. An actual budgetary control to keep expenditures within the appropriations made by the Legislature.

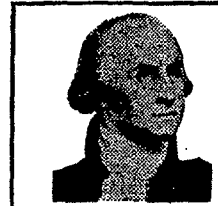

Next week's meeting will be held Wednesday evening at which time Clare Kiwanis club will be guests and will present the program. Also Traverse City club will be represented and will present to Grayling the traveling Kiwanis gavel.

Midwestern tournament to be held there soon, if their opponents are found to be professionals.

The runner-ups were presented silver glove emblems studded with rubies. We are positive that these emblems are well earned and will be treasured by their winners.

This is Willard Harwood's first attempt as manager of a boxing team and he certainly has done a good job, in both Bay City and Grand Rapids. He saw that the boys all got their chance and that everything went according to rules and regulations. This is not an easy job and we feel that Willard deserves much credit for his fine management.

Grayling is very proud to be represented by five such outstanding boys and extends heartiest congratulations to each.

GENERAL WASHINGTON Comments on the News

As pertinent on Feb. 22, 1940, his 208th birthday, as they were from 1789 to 1797, his presidential term of office, are the messages of George Washington, first President, to Congress.

NEUTRALITY—Why, by interweaving our destiny with that of any part of Europe, entangle our peace and prosperity in the toils of European ambition, rivalry, interest, honor or caprice?

NAVY—To secure respect to a neutral flag requires a naval force organized and ready to vindicate it from insult or aggression . . . discouraging belligerent nations from committing . . . violations.

NATIONAL DEBT—As a very important source of strength and security, cherish public credit . . . use it as sparingly as possible, avoiding likewise the accumulation of debt.

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS—Europe has a set of primary interests which to us have none or a very remote relation. Hence she must be engaged in frequent controversies . . . foreign to our concerns.

ARMY—If we desire to avoid insult, we must be able to resist it; if we desire to secure peace . . . instrument of our rising prosperity, it must be known that we are at all times ready for war.

TOTALITARIANISM—The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers in one (governmental department), and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism.

Aged Gentleman Found Dead

Edgar Wilkinson, nearly 90 years old was found dead Friday morning, having passed a "ray" suddenly of heart trouble. Mr. Wilkinson, who made his home with his daughter Mrs. Archie Kennedy had gone to his own home that is occupied by his daughter Mrs. Ruby Annis, to repair a pump when he was stricken and passed away.

Mr. Wilkinson was born in Canada May 3, 1850 and when he had grown to manhood he came to Michigan. On Nov. 11, 1881 he was united in marriage to Ada May Burroughs.

On coming to Crawford county they settled on a farm in Maple Forest, and lived there until Mrs. Wilkinson passed away when Mr. Wilkinson came to Grayling to be nearer his children. He worked on the M. C. R. R. section and also was employed at the big mill of the Salling Hanson company.

Mr. Wilkinson was a staunch member of the Townsend club and belonged to the Crawford County Grange. He was a fine old gentleman and strived to earn his own living as long as he was able, by doing "odd jobs of ploughing and other work. He was honest, and very kind-hearted and will be missed in the family circle and by many friends.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the A. J. Sorenson Funeral Home, and there was a large congregation of old friends gathered for the last rites. Rev. H. W. Kuhlman of Michelson Memorial church officiated, and Mr. F. J. Mills and Miss Helene Babbitt beautifully sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Rock of Ages." Interment was in Elmwood cemetery, and the pallbearers were J. Skinner, Mr. Peters, William Ferguson, Severine Johnson, Melvin Enyart and Charles Corwin.

Those surviving the deceased are three daughters, Mrs. Leona Johnson, Mrs. Archie Kennedy and Mrs. Ruby Annis, Grayling, a stepson Alva Burroughs, Mesick, Mich.; 18 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren. Also one brother Henry Wilkinson, who lives in Ohio.

Among those from out of the city in attendance at the funeral services were Mrs. Lucy Wiles, Miss Maxine Wiles and Harry Wilkinson, Wayne, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Alva Burroughs and Mrs. Julia Price and Mr. and Mrs. Baker, of Mesick, Mich.; Roy Papendick, Cedar Lake; Mr. and Mrs. James Green, Mrs. Viola Price, John Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Burroughs, Vanderbilt.

Last Game On B. B. Schedule Tonight

Thursday (tonight) the Green and White wind up their regular basketball season with a game against Mancelona. Earlier in the season Grayling defeated Mancelona so undoubtedly the team from the north will be out for revenge.

Another interesting angle to this game is that it may be a preview of one of the tournament games. At least it will give the fans a chance to size up two of the four class "C" teams entered in the district tournament.

Womans Club

The ladies of the club were given one of the most enjoyable programs of the year by the new members of the club Monday evening at Michelson Memorial church.

The program was divided into two parts. The first was a musical sponsored by Mrs. Glenn Penrod and the following numbers were rendered:

"There's a Gold Mine in the Sky," vocal solo by Barbara Borchers.

"When Mother Nature Sings Her Lullaby," cornet duet by Steve and Allen Maxwell.

"Little Girl's Lament" and "Shadow March," vocal solo by Barbara Borchers.

"When Day Is Done," cornet solo by Steve Maxwell.

The second part of the program was a play "Green Eyes From Romy," a comedy in one act by John Kirkpatrick, directed by Mary Braidwood and Norma Butler.

Cast of characters: Josephine Tarr (slightly bored) Alma Sweeney Lucy Guilford (sweet guileless soul) Marguerite Hutchins Mary (maid) Norma Butler Emily Prescott (lovely but lazy) Ann Olson Penny Meadows (distract president) Lois Roberts Winnie Williams (Fanny's helpful cousin) Ruth Rowland Madge Killer (good-natured) Gladys Miesel Madame Khaaravici (fortune teller) gypsy, alias Louise) Ruth Frye

Setting—A late spring afternoon. The members of the Allied Charity Club are preparing for a bazaar and lawn fete at the home of the club president, Fanny Meadows.

Mrs. Walter Maxwell was in charge of the stage and properties. The new members worked hard on the program and the result was a very successful evening's entertainment.

The next meeting will be held at the Annex with Mrs. Roy Trudgeon as hostess.

Winter Park To Close Sunday Night

Grayling winter park, after a most successful season, will close its activities for the season after next Sunday's ski jumping tournament. After that time the park may be used for skating and skiing if desired, however no work will be done toward keeping the rink in condition. Also there will be no lighting at night.

Was Last Snow Train Of 1940 Season.

Last Sunday closed the season's snow train excursions. It was from Detroit and brot in a crowd of 451. While this was a small crowd in comparison with those of other Sundays, still it was one of the happiest and jolliest crowds of young people yet to come to Grayling.

The park was in excellent condition and every feature was in active use. It is surprising how ski jumping is gaining in popularity. Even some of the most timid, after having a little experience, go for it in a big way. The ski trails too are being used more and more every season, and by the time our new 96 foot ski jump and ski trails are completed, this will be an outstanding feature of the winter park.

There will be no snow trains next Sunday. In all 13 snow trains came to Grayling this season.

Ski Jump Tournament Sunday

Don't forget the ski tournament next Sunday at the winter park. All amateurs are invited. There will be four prizes.

This tournament is under direction of Alfred Orhm, former class A national ski-jump champion. Admission 25c. Everyone invited. Starts at 2:30 p. m.

Already many entrants have been filed and a hot amateur contest is assured. Rudy Harrison is the only local entrant up to this time. Others are expected. Most of the jumpers are from Detroit, Lansing, Jackson and Flint.

Jacksonians Storm Grayling's Sports Park

JACKSON NEWSPAPER PRINTS GRAPHIC STORY OF EXCURSION TO NORTHLAND

What others say about Grayling winter sports is still good reading. The following article was published in the Jackson Citizen-Patriot, February 13th:

(By Ed. F. Smith in the Jackson Citizen-Patriot of Monday, Feb. 12, 1940.)

The snow-clad, wooded hills around Grayling must still be ringing today with the happy shouts of some 360 Jackson sports lovers who went north Sunday on a Michigan Central snow train. The trip was sponsored by the Greater Jackson Assn. and the Citizen Patriot and the feature of the occasion was that everybody had a good time.

The crowd began to gather at the railroad station at 6 a. m. Some came afoot, some rode in their own automobiles while others had made reservations for taxicabs. In fact, the Yellow Cab Co., was taking no reservation for cabs for 6:30 to 7 o'clock, because everything had been booked in advance.

Some passengers carried skis, a few had toboggans and many had skates, but it was the color that attracted the eye. Reds predominated, but in some makeups every hue of the rainbow was seen. The scene ran the Cascades a close second for the spectacular.

Crowd Arrives Early.

At 6:45 the train of six passenger coaches, a baggage car and a club car was reported ready for the long journey, and there followed a rush for seats, but there was room for all. Skis and toboggans were piled in the baggage car, skates and excess clothing in baggage racks, the conductor sang out that familiar "b-o-a-r-d" and the train moved northward exactly at 7 o'clock. So far as has been learned nobody missed the train.

Anticipating the five-hour ride ahead, individuals and groups had prepared themselves in various ways to relieve the monotony, if one could find any of that article aboard. Some played cards, many sang, others staged a walkathon up and down the aisles from coach to coach, a few read. Nobody had any dull moments. Some coaches were quieter than others, but all had their quota of laughter and song, good-natured kidding and animation.

An Accordion Player

Forty-one employees of the Consumers Power Co. made up a car of their own. Clarence Eggleston acted as master of ceremonies for a program of indoor games and sports for the Consumers boys and girls. Sides had been chosen and scores were kept. Don Webster, Jackson's accordion-playing mail carrier, filled the coach with popular music while the crowd sang. Later Don played for singing in the baggage car and finally wound up in the baggage car where a dance was started.

The sun was breaking from clear skies when the train reached Lansing, and it continued to flood the cars with light until Bay City was passed when the skies became overcast. The passing of the sunlight, however, had no dimming effects on the happy Jacksonians aboard the snow train. They danced and sang, paraded the aisles and tossed shouts back and forth as though they had known each other all of their lives. As a matter of fact, some never had met before, and there were a number who never had ridden on a train before.

Less Snow at Saginaw

The train reached Saginaw at 9:10, and it was noted that there was much less snow than in Jackson. At Pinconning, a short distance beyond Bay City, the (Continued on last page)

Dates Set For High School B. B. Tourney

Feb. 20th, and March 1st and 2nd give promise of being red letter days for class "C" and "D" basketball teams as well as local fans as Grayling plays host to eight teams of this section in the District basketball tournament on those dates.

This will be the first step toward determining the state championship in the four classes of schools recognized by the State Athletic Assn., and from this distance it looks as tho an interesting time will "be had by all" before the winners are determined.

Class "D" entries are Gaylord St. Mary's, Vanderbilt, Johannesburg, Frederic and Roscommon, while Gaylord, Onaway, Mancelona and Grayling will vie for class "C" honors. Judged strictly on performance so far this season it would appear that Roscommon stands a good chance to repeat as class "D" victors with Gaylord, who has scored double victories over the other three class "C" entries, in the favored spot among the class "C" teams. However basketball being what it is anything can, and usually does, happen in a tournament of this kind. Dark horses seem to have a habit of cropping up in these tournaments and it isn't beyond the realm of possibility for any of the teams entered to win in its class.

Drawings are scheduled to be held Feb. 24th, at the local high school with the tournament manager G. L. Poor in charge. While the order of the games in the various classes has not been officially announced, and probably won't be until the drawings are made, it wouldn't be surprising to see the semi-finals in class "C" with the odd game of class "D" run off Thursday night, the Semi-finals in class "D" Friday night, and the finals in both classes Saturday night.

The officials assigned to this tournament are the same as those who did such an efficient job two years ago namely Mr. David Bates of Harbor Springs and Mr. Domenic Gabrysiak of Mt. Pleasant.

Governor To Talk To Hotel Owners

Governor Luren D. Dickinson has accepted the invitation of the Michigan Hotel Association to be its honored guest at the annual winter meeting to be held February 24th, at Dearborn Inn, Dearborn, Michigan, according to word received from W. S. Woodfill, President of the Association.

"The Governor," says Mr. Woodfill, "will speak on what our hotels in Michigan can do to aid the cause of temperance. We of the hotel profession believe that liquor can and should be sold with the very highest standards prevailing in the conduct of such business."

"We have inaugurated a code of ethics which we are imposing upon ourselves and which is observed by every member hotel in this association who may be engaged in the sale of liquor. We are enforcing the temperate use of liquor in our establishments."

The Hotel Association will soon begin a widespread educational campaign among Michigan hotels calculated to promote the temperate use of liquor. In this respect Mr. Woodfill points out the hotel men will welcome advice and guidance and wish to work with those interested in the cause. These plans will be discussed at the Dearborn meeting and a definite program of action on the hotel front will be started.

THURSDAY, FEB. 22, 1940

IT SHOULD be coming more and more apparent to the country at large that Senator A. H. Vandenberg is the logical man for president. His St. Paul address was refreshing in its sanity and illumination. The Michigan man has the training, experience and age necessary to take on this gigantic burden. By any comparison or test Senator Vandenberg seems to eclipse the other aspirants in personal and political ability.—Charlotte Republican-Tribune. We quite agree with everything Editor DeFoe says about Mr. Vandenberg's fitness for the high office of president, but in spite of that we still feel that Tom Dewey of New York too is well qualified for that high office. We especially like Dewey for we feel that he is close to the people. He knows what it is all about. Can anyone imagine any New Deal Bogle man frightening Tom Dewey? We don't believe so. In a primary contest in Michigan we believe Dewey would win. He's the young men's candidate and we believe he will be our next president.

CHEBOYGAN TO VOTE ON MUNICIPAL ELECTRIC PLANT

The City council of Cheboygan has had submitted report of an engineering firm relative to a proposal for the establishment of a municipal electric light and power plant. If this report meets the approval of the City council, no doubt the proposal will be presented to the voters of that city for ratification.

Electric service is supplied to Cheboygan by the Michigan Public Service Co., the same Company that is now serving Grayling. We believe that if that Company is now serving that community in a satisfactory manner, that it be permitted to continue to do so. We understand that the service there has been excellent, so we can't conceive why the consumers should wish to make a change.

The situation was different in Grayling. Here we were getting very poor service and promises to improve it did not materialize. Grayling just had to do something about it. This city is at the end of the Company lines and it seems that whenever there was trouble anywhere on the lines that we were in darkness or at least had curtailed service. Grayling was entitled to better service and the people voted to build a municipal electric light and power plant. This is now just about ready to begin operation.

We are opposed to cities going into business in competition with private utilities except for valid reasons such as confronted the people of Grayling. The situation appears quite different in Cheboygan and we believe the citizens of that city will think very seriously before voting to construct a municipal electric plant.

SHOPPENAGONS INN PUTS OUT FINE NEW FOLDER

The front page contains a picture of the hotel, above which is a picture of Shoppenagons, the former familiar Grayling aborigine, after whom the hostelry was named. At the top of the page is the name "Grayling." At the bottom of the page appears the lines Shoppenagons Inn on U. S. 27, Grayling, Michigan. This is printed in chocolate brown. Embellishing the page are several pine trees printed in green.

Three inside pages contain beautiful half-tone pictures of the hotel dining room; the lobby; the Blue Room or cocktail lounge, and one of the guest rooms. Etchings of bathing, fishing, hunting and winter sports are shown in the corners of the inside pages. In the center is the name of the hotel and the rates charged for its 50 modern rooms. Page 5 of the folder extends an invitation to come to Grayling and to stop at Shoppenagons Inn. It also lists a number of the interesting things Grayling has to offer tourists and other visitors.

The back page shows three Grayling winter scenes—a group of girl snow revellers; toboggan slides and our famous 1938 30-foot snowman. In all the folder is very attractive and interesting and is a credit to Mrs. Cassidy in her effort to let the outside world know what she has to offer in the way of a modern hostelry. This is a Kramer publication and was printed at the Avalanche office.

Insect Damage

The annual damage done by insects to crops in the United States is estimated at $3,000,000,000.

Moose Win From Houghton Lake

The Moose and the colored lads from Camp Houghton Lake put on a nice exhibition of basketball Tuesday night on the local high school gym floor. The Moosers were the winners in the contest by a score of 53 and 39.

From the difference in the score one would think that it was not a fast game, but the truth of the matter is it was one of the fastest seen on the local floor in some time. The game which was close all the way through, was tied several times. It was the scoring spree which the Moose put on in the last few minutes that clinched the game for them. Paul Lovely, guard, carried off the scoring honors with 19 points.

Those of the Moose who saw action during the game were Louis Smith, Leo and Paul Lovely, Keith Bowen, Don and Howard Smock, Liwyn Doremire and Bud Wiseman.

The Moose go to Gaylord Friday night to play the Independent team there.

Lincoln Day Banquet Bay City Feb. 26th

A special Lincoln Day banquet and celebration will take place in the Consistory Cathedral, Bay City, Michigan, at 7:00 p. m., on February 26th.

The celebration, under the sponsorship of the Young Republican Clubs of Bay County, will entertain the Honorable Everett M. Dirksen, of the Sixteenth District of Illinois, as the guest speaker. Representative Dirksen is not only one of the outstanding Republican legislators in the Congress, but he has established a nationwide reputation as a forceful, pleasing and most entertaining public speaker. He has the distinction of being one of the Members whose speeches always fill all the seats as well as the galleries of the House of Representatives.

The subject of Representative Dirksen's address will be "Lincoln—Present Day Republicanism."

Representative Dirksen will be presented to the Young Republicans by the Honorable Roy O. Woodruff who represents the Tenth Michigan District in the House.

In speaking of the banquet, Representative Woodruff said today: "I consider it a particularly happy circumstance that I have been able to secure Representative Dirksen as the principal speaker at the Lincoln Dinner celebration in my home city. I am certain he will have for everyone present not only a most entertaining message, but one that will discuss in a very keen and analytical way foremost problems which confront this Nation, and the possibilities for their solution under a Republican regime."

"It will be a great pleasure for me to be at this meeting and to present this distinguished Illinois Representative to my constituents."

WE WANT YOU TO FEEL AT HOME wherever good beer is sold

The Brewing Industry realizes that decent, respectable people prefer to patronize decent, inviting places.

And we agree with them.

That is why we are taking action—in cooperation with law enforcement authorities—to "clean-up or close-up" beer retail establishments that disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions. To do this we have instituted a new self-regulation plan now in operation in a few states and being extended as rapidly as possible.

We think you will be interested in knowing something about this program. May we tell you about it in an interesting free booklet?

CCC Camp News

CAMP HARTWICK PINES SP-8 V-2690-Co.

(Too late for last week)

Veterans Aid Milk Fund

The veterans of V-2690th Company, CCC, Camp Hartwick Pines, Grayling, Michigan again demonstrated their interest in beneficial community enterprise by lending the facilities of their mess hall to the ladies of Grayling for a Box Social and Valentine Dance in aid of the local school Milk Fund. The affair was so thoroughly enjoyed by everyone and the proceeds from the sale of the lunch boxes were so gratifying, the men of the company are tremendously pleased. Incidentally the company made many new friends, for many of the guests had never before visited the camp.

Harry Vanderwall, the Mess steward, his cooks and able kitchen staff did an excellent job of preparing the mess hall and serving the coffee. When the last guest had gone, they quickly prepared the tables for the morning meal for the company. Charles Anderson, the Senior Leader, looked after the arriving guests and the car parking. Clarence Perry, the Supply steward, took charge of the cloak room. The music was provided by Jesse Warner and William Harrison, assisted by Steve Maxwell, Jack Church and Jack Redhead, as a voluntary contribution to the worthy cause of the Milk Fund. Mrs. Walter A. Maxwell, Mrs. Stanley Stealy and Mrs. Furst Barber, with the help of the kitchen staff, decorated the mess hall. The unique and attractive valentine decorations were the work of Mrs. Roy Milnes and represented a very substantial contribution of work and expense.

The distinct achievement of the party was the really fine and happy spirit of everyone. His Honor, Mayor George Burke, famous as a community host and organizer of recreation, developed an enterprising pinochle game on the side for those who chose not to dance. Judge Charles Moore, aided by Mr. Farnham Matson auctioned off the many beautifully decorated and delightful lunch boxes to the highest bidder. Sheriff Jack Papendick and Roy Trudgdon of the Shoppenagons Inn kept things under control and saw that everyone was having the best time possible. The Grayling schools were well represented by a very interesting group of teachers.

Monday when the storm was at the worst, the call came for help for a stalled car several miles from camp. Anthony Adams, using Capt. Chaplain Samuel made his regular visit last week and gave one of his helpful talks to the entire company.

Grains for Brewing Would Fill Train Spanning Three-fourths of Continent

AMERICAN farm products purchased by the brewing industry since beer's legalization in 1933 have reached a total of 25 billion pounds, enough to fill a freight train extending from Los Angeles to Detroit.

More than three million acres of farm land must be cultivated each year to raise the billions of pounds of barley, corn, rice and hops for which brewers pay approximately $100,000,000 annually.

In 1939 alone nearly four billion pounds of these products were used to make the 56,191,103 barrels of beer, which the United States Bureau of Internal Revenue reports were produced last year.

These are among the developments recorded by the United Brewers Industrial Foundation in its annual survey of the brewing industry.

The past year also witnessed rapid expansion of the industry's program of active cooperation with local law enforcement officials to eliminate anti-social conditions wherever they may surround the sale of beer. The number of states in which industry committees dedicated to this purpose are in operation increased from one to nine. Similar programs are to be installed in additional states during the coming year.

Direct taxes collected on the 1939 sale of beer totaled $411,594,780 and averaged $7.80 per barrel on the 52,768,818 barrels withdrawn for sale. This revenue is earmarked for old age pensions, educational institutions, public health, aids to agriculture and other special purposes in many states and municipalities. The remainder, including the Federal Government's share of $267,642,983, is allocated to general expense funds.

The 1939 payments bring the total tax revenue collected by Federal, State and local agencies since beer's legalization to approximately two and a quarter billion dollars.

office. The principal speaker was Wm. Joy from the regional office at Milwaukee, Wis. The main topic for discussion was "Executive Organization." Approximately 80 men were in attendance, including seven camp educational advisers and Sam H. Hill, district adviser of the Camp Custer District. Mr. Joy is a very forceful speaker, knows his subject and the meetings were exceedingly interesting and helpful.

Capt. Pritchard returned to Camp AuSable for an educational conference Feb. 6, 7, 8 and 9th. The meetings were in charge of Camp Monday after a week's leave occasioned by the death, at Lansing, of Mrs. Pritchard's mother.

Great effort is being made throughout the country to improve the educational setup in the veteran camps. An important meeting is being held at Chicago Feb. 26th to discuss the new plans. Mr. Moffett of Hartwick and Mr. Little of AuSable will attend. Especial attention is being directed toward the securing of employment for the veteran enrollees.

Konstantine Snogozdki and Edward Dlugokeck were taken Saturday and Archie Scanlan, John Black, and William Levko Monday to the Station Hospital, Fort Wayne, for special treatment.

We received the sad news over the week end that Michael Novak, now of Camp Black Lake, but for several years a member of V-1670, fell on the ice and died from the injury before he reached the hospital.

American Farmers May Be At Mercy Of Foreign Binder Twine Industry

WHEN Theseus, son of Aegeus, king of Athens, slew the Minotaur in Crete, escaped from the labyrinth built by Daedalus, rescued Ariadne and sailed for Naxos, he was able to accomplish this feat by means of a thread that Ariadne supplied—a thread made of hemp that guided him through the winding chambers of the labyrinth.

It was the same kind of fibre that was used by the ancients for ship-rigging, by the Thracian women for making sheets as soft as modern Irish linen, by the Scythians for lacing prisoners to stakes before pyrotechnic executions, by American farmers for binding wheat, barley, rye, oats, and other grains that are necessary foodstuffs of the country.

It was the same kind of fibre—from the same basic family—from which the Arabians in the days of Harun-al-Raschid, Caliph of Baghdad, started making a drug, "ganja," which was delightful to chew or smoke because it produced the kind of dreams that cannot be found outside the Arabian Nights. Investigations into the hemp family (be it sisal, henequen or abaca) disclose that the plant or herb is twin-sexed, with the female element producing the seed, which, in turn, produces the new crop.

Use of the fibre for making thread was known to the ancients in Scythia before the era of written history. Hemp grew wild and ancient man began its cultivation before the invention of the alphabet. In Thrace, a land of indefinite extent northeast of the modern Macedonia, weaving of the hemp fibre was developed to such a level of artistry that Herodotus mentions the completed fabrics, emphasizing the fact they were as soft as linen.

Growth of the uses of binder twine in the United States began in 1880, when wire was abandoned and sisal and abaca were imported for manufacture into a heavy, serviceable cord that would maintain a high breaking point. Agricultural expansion brought about an increased call for twine until, in 1923, consumption reached 244,000,000 pounds.

Meanwhile, the industry began exportation of twine and in that same year exports totaled 74,500,000 pounds. Foreign twine, having edged into the American market, registered an import total, in 1923, of 18,400,000 pounds. By 1936, imports had jumped to 75,000,000 pounds, and in 1938, 60,500,000 pounds were imported, while exports from private manufacturing plants in the United States dropped to 4,000,000 pounds by January, 1939.

During the hurried days of emergency at the beginning of the World War, American manufacturers found themselves faced with a price boost in Mexican sisal. The per pound price jumped more than 85 percent from 1915 to 1916 and another 85 percent from 1916 to 1917, a condition that threatened their very existence. The situation then is comparable to the situation at the present time, when binder twine of foreign manufacture, reaching the United States duty free, threatens to endanger the supply of American binder twine and make the American farmer dependent upon foreign producers.

Several state penitentiaries began to produce binder twine to such an extent that in 1923 the output was 56,567,795 pounds. Not until 1937 did that output decline, when it totaled 42,809,291 pounds, which figure was almost one-half of the total production of private manufacturers. At the same time, imports from abroad added up to 60,500,000 pounds, 60 percent of the private domestic output.

Non-partisan News Letter
Michigan Press Association

By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing—Within the next few weeks while the average citizen is fretting about high taxes and wondering who will be the state party nominees next September, astute politicians will be diligently setting up party machinery for the next two years.

After township party caucuses are held, on or before March 10, the party's organization will have been completed in each township.

If democracy begins at the smallest unit of government, the township, then the responsibility for good government or for bad government—likewise, good bosses or bad bosses—rests upon each citizen within the next week or so.

Here is the Michigan law, as revised by the 1939 legislature.

Notice by Clerk

First, a township caucus shall be held at least 20 days prior to the election on April 1 for the purpose of selecting a township party committee for each party in the township. The committee consists of three persons and selects its own chairman.

Second, the chairman, elected at the preceding caucus issues a call designating date, hour and place for political caucus and transmits copy of the call to the township clerk.

Third, the clerk posts notice at least 10 days prior to the holding of the caucus (not later than March 1) in at least five conspicuous places. This notice may be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the township.

Any qualified and registered elector's name may be placed in nomination on motion of any qualified and registered elector present.

It's just as simple as that!

Plurality Nominates

Act 145 of the 1939 legislature further provides that "the candidate receiving the highest number of votes shall be the party nominee."

In other words, plurality nominates. The nominee for committee may receive a minority of the ballots cast; plurality only is required.

The township caucus chairman appoints a secretary and two tellers. The chairman and secretary certify the names and addresses of nominees to township election commissioners, care of the township clerk.

One joker has been detected in the law. It is this: "Provided that this section shall not apply in any township where the ticket for township officers does not contain any political party which has filed its vignette with the secretary of state." Thus, if the township has had only one party ticket, such as "People's Ticket," "Good Government Ticket," then the new procedure for a party caucus will not prevail. But if there are two or more tickets, one of which is either the Republican or Democratic parties (which have filed their vignettes with the secretary of state), then the new law must be observed.

And furthermore, if citizens distrust the party caucus plan and prefer to hold their own primary, a township primary may be authorized by the township board upon petition of 10 per cent of the electorate. Only about 150 of the 1247 townships in Michigan use the primary system. The primary date this year was Monday, Feb. 19.

Liquor Home Rule

The fact that even control over local sale of liquor is a responsibility of local government, not a responsibility of some state commission at Lansing, was brought out recently by Muri H. DeFoe, Charlotte, a member of the state liquor commission.

"Basically all liquor permits begin at home," reminded Commissioner DeFoe.

What did he mean? Just this: In municipalities or townships where sale of beer or liquor by the glass is now permitted, all licenses are up for local renewal on or before May 1 of each year.

The state liquor control law clearly states that except in Wayne county all licenses, both new and renewal, must be approved by local authorities (village board, city council or township board). In Wayne county the state commission may grant licenses without recommendation of local officials; actually the state commission as a matter of procedure policy obtains the approval of local police before it grants a liquor license.

Who Gets Permit Fee?

If responsibility for granting of licenses rests on local government, then who gets the liquor license revenue? Eighty-five per cent is returned to the municipality or township that approves the license. The state keeps the remainder.

How is this money to be used? The law does not attach any strings to use of liquor revenue. It goes into the general fund for payment of expenses of government. Implied in this practice is the thought, not expressed in the law, that the supervisory cost of law enforcement would be paid by these fees.

If a tavern sells beer or liquor to minors under the age of 21 or if conditions exist that are otherwise undesirable, then what can be done to revoke the tavern license? Complaints may be registered with local authorities—the village board, city council, township board which originally approved the license application. While the law does not require the local governing body to hold a hearing, such may be done, or the board may revoke the license at any regular official session. The next recourse for action is the state liquor control commission which either may revoke the license outright or hold a public hearing.

Hotels Worried

The hotels of Michigan, many of which derive substantial revenue from the sale of beer or liquor, are anxious to eliminate abuses.

Saturday afternoon, Feb. 24, the Dearborn Inn, the Michigan Hotel association will present a plaque to Henry Ford. Hotel managers and leading public officials will listen to an address on temperance by Governor Luren D. Dickinson.

The hotel men are going to declare their position on temperance matters and make some suggestions. From reliable sources we understand that the combination of the state hotel association and Governor Dickinson will put the liquor problem squarely on newspaper front pages.

Whatever is said, the fact still remains that good government or bad government begins in Michigan during the next few days, not next November. Democracy's grass roots, under our party system, will start then in each of Michigan's 1247 townships.

Rich Wood Cargo Missing From Sunken Freighter

The treasure ship of Lake Erie, the rugged and once glorious three-master schooner New Brunswick, is free to settle for eternity in her sandy grave five miles out from Wheatley, Ont.

For the New Brunswick, after 80 years, has satisfied the curiosity of treasure seekers who have dreamed of salvaging the cargo that went down with her in a pounding storm in 1859. Divers entered the hull of the ship recently and found only the broken ribs and empty hull of a proud ship that once sailed under three masts, the Detroit News reports.

The searchers closed forever the legend of the vast store of wealth in white oak and walnut that went down with the New Brunswick under the red flares of distress.

The New Brunswick was a schooner in the days when lumber was king in Michigan and Ontario. Her skipper was Red McTavish and her first mate was Buff Warren. Together they rode her through the Great Lakes and over the Atlantic to Liverpool. They carried a cargo of 18,000 bushels of wheat from Chicago and the New Brunswick was the first in history to cross the lakes and ocean.

The New Brunswick rode through any weather and the season was late in 1859 when she fought to the death with Erie's pounding waves and sheet-tearing winds. In the hull and lashed to the decks with chains was a fortune in timber which had been loaded at Wallacburg, Ont.

Scores of farm and fisher folk watched her struggle from the shore and darkness had fallen when she foundered and went down. In a mad night of rescue all hands were saved except a cook who later died of exposure.

Pioneer in Motor Fuel Has Never Owned Car

A man who pioneered in development of the gasoline industry has never owned an automobile.

Charles Skeele Palmer of Pittsburgh, Pa., one of the first to develop a process for transforming crude oil into gasoline and thus paving the way for modern land and air transportation, is in retirement today—a student of the classics and astronomy. Neither he nor his family owns an automobile.

It was back in 1907 that Dr. Palmer, then a professor of chemistry at the University of Colorado, invented his process for "cracking" or distilling crude oils, making it possible eventually for the industry to supply cheap gasoline in commercial quantities.

"I got the idea back in 1899," Dr. Palmer recalls. "We had found what was crude gasoline in its natural state in the earth. I knew it had been produced geologically by tremendous heat and pressure so I set out to reproduce artificially what had been done in nature."

"Naturally, it was a crude product compared with the gasolines they are making today. But it was gasoline even though it took me two years to work out the process."

Dr. Palmer patented the process in 1912 when it was sold to the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

Automobile for Tip

An all-time high for gratitude was scored recently by a Memphis, Tenn., tourist who gave a new car, with which he had been touring England before the war, to a stevedore who helped load his luggage aboard the packed liner Washington, sailing for the United States.

Roaring up to the pier, Lou Buckman had only a few minutes left to catch his reserved space aboard the "refugee ship" while Alfred Blundell, a dock worker, substituted for a porter and carried his goods on board. When he had finished Buckman said: "Would you like a tip? Here's ten shillings—and you can have my car as well." The hurrying tourist assured the startled stevedore that the offer was genuine and added: "If you sell the car I'd like to know how much it fetched, just out of curiosity."

No More Tough Steak

The toughest chuck can quickly be changed to the tenderest of beef by a new tenderizing process recently discovered by scientists of Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh, Pa., according to Country Home Magazine. Instead of placing freshly slaughtered animals in coolers, and keeping them near the freezing point for eight weeks, as packers do, the scientists warm the carcasses up to 85 degrees Fahrenheit and ripen the meat in a few hours. At these high temperatures, enzymes rapidly dissolve the tough connective tissues, and so make the meat tender. Decay is prevented by the use of a newly invented sterilizing lamp which kills bacteria and molds.

New Zealand Punishment

New Zealand is to adopt the American method of punishing intoxicated motorists with jail sentences served at week-ends. Originally magistrates imposed fines, but when such action did not appear to be meeting the case, terms of imprisonment were imposed. But imprisonment meant that the offender lost pay and possibly his job, which imposed a hardship on his wife and children. Under the American system the offender is put in prison a the week-ends only.

Starling's Food

Starlings have very diverse food habits. More than 95 per cent of the food of nesting starlings is animal matter, largely insects; caterpillars are especially attractive. Other types of animal food relished by these birds are grasshoppers, crickets, spiders and beetles. Almost any insect which can be secured would, therefore, be suitable to feed a young starling. As it grows older it may be fed other types of food such as cherries, apples, corn and garden truck.

The Weather

Last Saturday saw the mercury rise from twenty-four above at 6 a. m. to 40 above zero at noon. It was a nice sunny day and many people were out enjoying it. Sunday the weatherman was good to the winter sports as the sun didn't come out until late in the afternoon, so the rink and slides were in good shape all day. The thermometer registered 24 above zero at 6 a. m.; 31 at noon and 28 above at 6 p. m. This morning (Thursday) saw a considerable drop in the mercury; at 4 a. m. it registered 2 below zero, rising to zero at 6 a. m. and still going up. A slight snow flurry this afternoon hints of colder weather.

Natives of Arctic Circle Learn Jitterbug Dances

Up under the northern lights of the eastern Arctic, in the vicinity of Churchill, medicine men of Eskimo tribes are in a rage, and waiting for a return to old traditions. The ancient ceremonial dances are giving way to the antics of the modern jitterbug.

The annual excursion dance this year at the Hudson bay port saw scores of swarthy Eskimos eagerly learning the latest topsichorean products of civilization, while the elders glowered in the background. Very unseemly, they said. No dignity at all.

The highlight of the social season, the dance was held in the railway freight sheds. From all directions came all kinds of people. Cree and Chippewyan Indians, Eskimos, trappers, Hudson bay men and their wives, railroad workers and sailors from the ships waiting to take out the grain, all came.

So hot was the pace that the local orchestra was forced to work in two shifts. Between dances incidental music was furnished by the dogs outside the building.

Attending were 80 American tourists, some from as far south as Texas and southern California.

Freedom of Press

The publisher who established freedom of the press in America was John Peter Zenger, born in Germany about 1680. He came to America about 1700 and became a printer's apprentice. He began the publication of the New York Weekly Journal November 5, 1733, an organ opposed to the governor and supported by Chief Justice Lewis Morris and other leading men. The paper was credited with greatly influencing public opinion against the government, and Zenger was arrested November 17, 1734, on a charge of publishing seditious libels. He was imprisoned for some time before his trial, at which he was defended by Andrew Hamilton, and his acquittal by the jury was regarded as the first important victory for the freedom of the press.

Mardi Gras Custom

The carnival season at Mardi Gras is of ancient and somewhat obscure origin. It was introduced into America by the French colonists, and celebrations are recorded among the activities of the soldiers at Fort Louis de la Louisiana (1702-17) on the first site of Mobile, Ala. Similar festivities were observed in New Orleans from the time of its foundation. It was not until 1857, however, that a group of former residents of Mobile, Ala., produced the first parade with floats at New Orleans.

THOSE CANNERS ARE ON THE LOOSE AGAIN

Canners To Meet Hanson Cafe Team Saturday Night

There has been a bit of talk lately in the sporting circles as to whether or not the East Jordan Cannery can be beaten. There are several things to be taken into consideration on the subject. In the first place East Jordan was the only team in the league to beat Pellston and by the score of 41-39. Just one week following that game Pellston came to Grayling and suffered a 44-30 setback at the hands of the local Hanson Cafe.

Now remember, we're not saying that it looks like a sure thing for the Hanson Cafe team but we do say that if you ever wanted to see two fast teams in action be sure and come to the games Saturday night, Feb. 24th. East Jordan Cannery are perhaps the only team in northern Michigan that didn't lose a game last year. The only defeat so far this year been at the hands of Pellston, who in turn were beaten by Grayling, who plays East Jordan this Saturday. Figure it out? Frank Bennett has furnished all the boys with Can-Openers and they're out to tear the Cannery wide open.

Cash Value
According to figures presented at the Conference on Child Health, a boy at birth has an economic value of $2,333 in a family with an income of $2,500 a year. At 18 this same boy is worth $28,654. It has cost $7,238 to rear him. The value is estimated by computing his probable income through his working life.

GRAYLING'S SPORTS PARK JACKSONIANS STORM

ground was bare. This furnished a topic for general discussion, in which it was hinted that the engineer had lost his way and was heading for the south. However, hopes of snow and ice were revived near Alger when great plains of snow greeted the eye. It continued that way through Roscommon and into Grayling.

At 11:45 the train halted before the Grayling depot. A large reception committee was on hand to greet the Jacksonians. This was the first of four snow trains scheduled to arrive there during the day, the others coming from Detroit and Lansing. A number of buses were lined up near the depot, and several open trucks for those who carried skis and toboggans stood ready to pick up the crowd. On the depot platform the Grayling school band played over his partially bald head, and another bearded man resembling an Alaskan sourdough were in the welcoming crowd to give the Eskimonian effect. Vendors of flowers also offered their wares for sale, adding to the carnival scene.

Taken To Park

The Jacksonians swarmed into buses and onto the open trucks. There wasn't room for all on the first trips. A sound truck stationed near the station played records to entertain those who waited until the buses and trucks returned from the 10-minute ride to the Grayling Winter Sports park. In less than half an hour after the train had arrived, the Jacksonians were having the time of their lives on toboggans, skis and skates, or watching others perform on them.

For the biggest thrill of the day, the visitors found the toboggan slide had the greatest attraction. The four runways, 1,500 feet in length, were busy every minute. As rapidly as they could be handled toboggans were sent down the incline, with yelling, shrieking passengers aboard, everybody's feet in somebody's lap, arms around each other—anyway to hold on as the toboggans hit the sharp breaking incline that sends the riders downward at a speed better than 60 miles an hour. It is a long, tedious climb back from the bottom of the hill to the top, but many Jacksonians made the trip several times. Aching muscles and tired feet were the rewards.

Ski Trails

From the side of Johnson's hill, northward, ski trails ran into the deer country, and many Jackson ski fans slid along those routes. Others gathered at the base of the ski-jump platform and watched the performance of several jumpers. While the leaps did not exceed 50 feet, there were a number of spills and the visitors had plenty of excitement in watching the events. Another ski trail for those more expert, ran southward over rough terrain, and this also attracted many spectators.

The panorama from Johnson's hill is magnificent. Heavily timbered and snow covered hills can be sighted as far as the eye travels. At the base of Johnson's hill the rustic buildings provided for feeding and sheltering the park visitors. To the right tiny figures can be sighted on the skating pond, on one side of which built with ice is a stage, unenclosed on which are large replicas of the Sphinx and pyramids of Egypt.

In the distance, southeastward, lies Grayling. Long ribbons of white smoke pouring from what seems to be dense forest, indicate the arrival or departure of other snow trains.

3,000 at Park

For more than four hours the Jackson folk remained at the park. Their identity was lost, however, when visitors from other snow trains arrived. Approximately 3,000 persons were in the park at one time. A loud speaker system supplied phonograph record music. "Oh, Johnny" and "Roll Out the Barrel," popular tunes aboard the train, also were the tunes of the ice parade at the park. A voice on the loud speaker also kept the crowd informed of the time of departures of respective trains and announced the time of day at intervals.

In one of the large buildings refreshments were served. Hot coffee, hot dogs and chili had a big play. A little booth where postcards and souvenirs were sold did a capacity business. The Jackson train departed on the homeward journey at 4:30 o'clock. The vigorous activities of the afternoon apparently had not dimmed the vim and vigor of the gang. There was a repetition of music, more songs, more games, and twice as much traipsing through aisles, and about the same ratio of confusion. It was no place for mourners.

Arrives Here at 9:15

At 9:15 the snow train snorted to a stand before the Jackson depot, and scores of persons were there to greet the gang. Skis and toboggans were hauled from the baggage car, cars and taxicabs hurried away from their parking places, goodbyes were shouted, and Jackson's first snow train had melted into history.

That there will be future snow trains from Jackson is most probable. "I wouldn't have missed it for a million dollars," was the consensus, and when folks who like their fun on ice have opinions like that, more snow trains are inevitable.

SCHOOL NEWS

GRAYLING SCHOOL

The Seniors have all completed their vocational guidance tests and after these are checked and compiled Mr. Hamilton will spend some time in Grayling interpreting them for the seniors. Although Mr. Hamilton is no longer connected with the Business College at Bay City he has promised as a special favor to do this work.

Dr. Campbell of the Children's Foundation is in Grayling two days this week and is to spend as much time as necessary in examining the children of Crawford county. This work may extend over a period of two or three weeks. He is expected to examine about 55 of the Grayling school children alone and figures are not available as to the number to be brought in from other parts of the county.

The Juniors are in the process of selecting a play to be presented the first part of April. A committee consisting of Jack Redhead, Betty Jean Failing, Archie Feldhauser, Carol Case and Bob Welsh has been chosen to select the play, and as soon as that has been done tryouts will get under way.

Self-Opening Envelope Would Aid Advertiser

Eight months of wastebasket research to discover why people discard sales letters without opening them led Arthur Barrett of Columbus, Ohio, to invent a "self-opening" envelope.

Barrett quit his job as a filling station operator because he had ideas which he thought were saleable. The first gadget he prepared for the market was a "sales-o-meter" to tell filling station operators how much other business they should do for each thousand gallons of gasoline they sold.

With a good mailing list, he started a direct-mail campaign.

To quote him: "Results were terrible. If all the people who threw my letters away had opened them I'm sure I would never have worried about envelopes."

With such results he decided to investigate. He directed a corps of assistants to the bottom of things—in the wastebasket. For eight months they counted unopened sales letters in the wastebaskets of some of Ohio's biggest industries, stores and offices. Then he followed the same procedure in several other states.

The procedure was simple, according to Barrett.

"We just walked into a place, got permission to empty wastebaskets on the floor, and did our counting. We found that 400 of every 1,000 third-class letters went into the basket without ever having been read."

With such evidence before him, Barrett began to work on the problem with which people had been tinkering—with tricky arrangements of strings, wires and odd-looking containers—for more than a half century.

Barrett's device has the lower left hand corner clipped enough to allow the folded letter to protrude a little. All one does is to grasp the protruding portion with the right hand—and pull.

Barrett has applied for a patent.

Canary Faithful

A canary belonging to Mrs. Charles Lanée of Marion, Ill., escaped in June, 1938, when a cat, springing against the cage, knocked open the small door. The bird disappeared. After an absence of 11 months, the canary returned and perched on the fence in front of the Lanée home. Mrs. Lanée said she had no trouble at all in coaxing it back into its cage.

The Old BACKWOODS PHILOSOPHER Says:

Livin' up here in th' north-woods at this time uv th' year it's hard t' realize th' mess human critters have got th' world into. Crimson stain uv human blood on th' white snows uv Finland; blood in th' eye on both sides uv th' French and German border; general piracy on th' high seas that would uv put out Capt. Kidd t' shame; wholesale murder in China—an' millions uv Americans fergittin' fundamental problems at home in watchin' th' unholy show across th' pond.

Up here all is peace. Only th' news brought in by th' papers an' radio mar th' peaceful solitude uv God's wilderness. Thank goodness I've trained myself t' shed such depressin' news like an ill-fittin' coat after I've laid aside my paper er turned off th' radio. It's good tonic t' do that then climb into my Soo-wools an' snowshoe 'cross country fer a visit with my old crony Hank Sanderson. Like me, Hank is an old-timer an' was in this neck uv th' woods when th' slaughter uv th' white pine was in full swing.

Th' only trouble about Hank is that he's got a radio too, an' when I git t' th' other end uv my trek he's always more'n willin' t' talk about th' general news. Hank ain't had much schoolin', we're both in th' same boat there, but this understandin' uv humans an' their antics would make many a college man take a back seat. What I like about him is his plain horse sense.

I said th' only trouble about Hank is his bein' always willin' an' ready t' discuss th' news—well, I'll have t' confess that this little weakness uv his'n is one uv th' reasons we're such cronies I guess. I git an inspirin' kick out uv th' peaceful snow-blanketed country between my place an' his'n—but somehow th' gabfests at his cabin is always inspirin' too.

I'm inclined t' think that it's th' common run uv humans whose opinions really count th' most after all, given time. Even, Hitler, Stalin an' Mussolini will find that out because there's always a Waterloo fer ev'ry Napoleon, either in a fracas with a furrin power er with his own people.

In th' good old USA it sometimes looks as if th' professional politicians, columnists an' fake patriots hidin' behind th' folds uv Old Glory have th' floor permanent; but somehow, in some way, th' common run uv us finally make ourselves heard an' run th' show. An' we don't have t' run it with rifles either, thanks t' th' foresight uv th' framers uv th' Bill uv Rights sections uv our Constitution.

Sure, we make mistakes now an' then. Mebbe we make fools uv ourselves putty often—which is our Constitutional right. We can make fools uv ourselves, as a nation, in th' mishandlin' uv our bounteous natural resources fer instance, but we've always had th' foresight t' reserve th' right t' correct our mistakes.

Th' mistake that some Americans make these days is t' listen t' th' imported argyment that a dictator uv one sort er another would solve all our problems. It seems t' me that such Americans is gittin' too durn lazy t' think fer themselves an' too lazy t' do their part in th' work uv gittin' America on her feet an' keepin' her there. Lettin' th' other feller, specially a dictator, do our thinkin' an' our work would be th' most loony kind uv a mistake I can think uv.

Talkin' uv mistakes—who would correct th' mistakes uv a dictator?

PUTTY FAILURE OFTEN DUE TO POOR APPLICATION

When you see the putty cracking away from your windows in big chunks, don't be too quick about blaming it on the putty. The chances are the putty failure is due to the way the putty is put on.

Like so many other things there is a right and a wrong way to apply putty. The right way takes a little more time and material.

which is the reason you do not find it on windows that are made to sell at a price.

In one sketch, we show you the ordinary way that putty is applied to windows. This method is quick and cheap, but it is usually temporary because swelling of the wood from the inside causes the putty to crack off.

In the other sketch is shown the proper way to apply putty. It is known as "bedding." Notice here the layer of putty on all sides of the glass. It actually is resting in a "bed" of putty. Wood and glass do not come in contact with each other. Notice also the putty groove which anchors the putty.
